Piet

Founders of Roelofs & Rubens

Roelofs & Rubens first saw light in 2006, out of love of and inspired by traditional blue and white Delft style pottery.

Piet has trained and worked as a graphic designer and Monty as a manager in a manufacturing company so this ceramics business was a new and exciting experiment with kiln explosions, cracks and warps and the never ending battle against pinholes.

"Vallen en opstaan" as they call it in Dutch; fall down and get up, (trial and error kind of thing) but we did learn and have a very big box of "seconds" to prove it.
